Martin County Community Foundation visits grant site

For immediate release -- 6/20/16

Several members of the Martin County Community Foundation board of advisors recently conducted a site visit at Faith Community Outreach, a 2015 grantee, according to Susan Dunlow, board president.

The board of advisors spent the day getting a first-hand tour of the food pantry, gaining insights on their intake process and learning about those being helped by the organization and grant funding.

Dunlow thanked the community for its support of the Martin County Community Foundation. "These grants are important to our community and our quality of life," she said. "Critical programs would not be possible without the generosity of many individuals and organizations that have supported Martin County's community fund."
