

NC Community Foundation to host free grantseekers workshop

Nonprofit organizations in Edgecombe, Nash, Warren, Wayne and Wilson counties seeking grants from the North Carolina Community Foundation (NCCF) are invited to participate in a free grantseekers workshop, according to Kelly Lee, regional director.

The workshop will take place Wednesday, July 13, from 9:30 a.m. - 12:00 p.m. at Edgecombe Community College, 2009 W Wilson St., Tarboro. The program will cover the grants application process for any nonprofit seeking grants from NCCF local affiliate foundations including the Edgecombe Charitable Foundation, Futrell-Mauldin Community Foundation for Greater Rocky Mount, Warren County Community Foundation, Wayne County Community Foundation and Wilson County Community Foundation.

Participants will learn how to apply for grants through the NCCF online system and find out the key to a great proposal. Those interested in attending are asked to RSVP by July 7 to Lee at klee@nccommunityfoundation.org.

For further information, contact Lee at 252-557-0278 or klee@nccommunityfoundation.org or visit the NCCF website at nccommunityfoundation.org.

About the North Carolina Community Foundation

The NCCF is the single statewide community foundation serving North Carolina and has made $101 million in grants since its inception in 1988. With more than $237 million in assets, NCCF sustains 1,200 endowments established to provide long-term support of a broad range of community needs, nonprofit organizations, institutions and scholarships. The NCCF partners with 60 affiliate foundations to provide local resource allocation and community assistance in 67 counties across the state. An important component of NCCF's mission is to ensure that rural philanthropy has a voice at local, regional and national levels.
