

North Carolina Community Foundation allocates second round of disaster relief grants to programs assisting Hurricane Matthew victims

Greene County Community Foundation grants to Greene County Interfaith Volunteers, Inc.

For immediate release – 8/15/17

The board of directors of the North Carolina Community Foundation recently allocated a second round of funding from the NCCF Disaster Relief Fund to affiliate foundations serving the areas hardest hit by Hurricane Matthew, according to Rod Martin, statewide grants committee chair and a member of the board.

The latest allocation totals about $207,500 and will go to 15 NCCF affiliates serving the parts of eastern North Carolina that are still recovering.

Funding totaling $286,000 from the North Carolina Community Foundation's Disaster Relief Fund was allocated at the beginning of the year. The Greene County Community Foundation also received an allocation of $10,920 to grant through the earlier allocation, bringing the total to $20,920 to date. Greene County Interfaith Volunteers, Inc. also received the earlier allocation.

NCCF President and CEO Jennifer Tolle Whiteside said that the Foundation's support continues to focus on helping our affiliates meet long-term recovery needs in eastern North Carolina. "These are allocations that we are confident will be granted effectively, because our affiliate boards live and work in these communities and know firsthand where these resources can make the most impact," she said.

The Greene County Community Foundation was founded by a group of committed citizens to serve as a local resource to meet community needs through permanent endowments that fuel grantmaking. In addition to Rhodes, board members include: Ray Holloman (vice president), Randy Davis (secretary-treasurer), Christie Mozingo (immediate past president), Nina Paul Vinson (grants chair), Gloria Artis, Susan Beaman, Kathleen Bussell, Faith Bynum, Erika Churchill, Judy Davenport, Laquita Davis, Rick Davis, Vanessa Hardy, Beth Moye, Dora Pasour, Rebecca Pate and Jody Tyson.

About the North Carolina Community Foundation

The NCCF is the single statewide community foundation serving North Carolina and has made $116 million in grants since its inception in 1988. With more than $222 million in assets, NCCF sustains 1,200 endowments established to provide long-term support of a broad range of community needs, nonprofit organizations, institutions and scholarships. The NCCF partners with a network of affiliate foundations to provide local resource allocation and community assistance across the state. An important component of NCCF's mission is to ensure that rural philanthropy has a voice at local, regional and national levels.

For more information, visit nccommunityfoundation.org, like us on Facebook and follow us on LinkedIn and Twitter @NCCF.

Cutline for photo

Pictured is Dianne Andrews from Interfaith Volunteers accepting a North Carolina Community Foundation Disaster Relief Fund grant award from Michael Rhodes, Greene County Community Foundation board president.

Media contact

Kim Ball, NCCF Regional Director
252-288-5706, kball@nccommunityfoundation.org

Noel McLaughlin, NCCF Director, Marketing and Communications
919-256-6901, nmclaughlin@nccommunityfoundation.org