NC Community Foundation hosts Pop-Up Philanthropy event in Elizabeth City

For immediate release -- 4/4/17

The North Carolina Community Foundation and local affiliate foundations, the Northern Albemarle Community Foundation and the Chowan Community Funds Foundation, hosted a Pop-Up Philanthropy event Wednesday in Elizabeth City, according to Jennifer Tolle Whiteside, NCCF president and CEO.

The event was held at the Arts of the Albemarle's Maguire Theater and featured discussion of opportunities for collaboration and increased local philanthropic impact. On hand to meet with local philanthropists, professional advisors and nonprofit leaders were NCCF senior staff and local and statewide board members.

"Pop Up provided us with a wonderful opportunity to discuss resources the community foundation provides to the Albemarle area," said Tolle Whiteside. "We see a lot of interest in funding important nonprofit programs that impact local needs and how individuals, organizations and businesses can create permanent endowment funds that will serve as permanent resources in these local communities forever."

About the Northern Albemarle Community Foundation and the Chowan Community Funds Foundation

About the North Carolina Community Foundation

The NCCF is the single statewide community foundation serving North Carolina and has made $116 million in grants since its inception in 1988. With more than $222 million in assets, NCCF sustains 1,200 endowments established to provide long-term support of a broad range of community needs, nonprofit organizations, institutions and scholarships. The NCCF partners with a network of affiliate foundations to provide local resource allocation and community assistance across the state. An important component of NCCF's mission is to ensure that rural philanthropy has a voice at local, regional and national levels.
