

The Education Committee of the Women's Giving Network cordially invites you to a special luncheon . . .

Through the Eyes of Educators:
Behind-the-Scenes Needs of Students and the Impact of School-Community Connections

Tuesday, May 21, 2013
11:30 to 1:00
Wake County Smart Start
4901 Waters Edge Drive, Raleigh 27606
Box lunch catered by Ladyfingers
Guests Welcome

Join a panel discussion of educators to learn about the needs of students and the ways educators connect vulnerable students and families with community programs to meet those needs. Click here for a compelling story that illustrates the theme of our program from one of our panelists (posted on the Wake County Public School System website). Educators go above and beyond for their students every day, and on May 21st four of them will find time in their busy day to educate us. Please join us for this special opportunity!

We are proud to welcome these experienced panelists:

- Scott Lyons, Enloe Magnet High School Principal (18 years in education as a middle and high school principal and English teacher)
- Kathy Boos, Director of Growing Together Preschool (15 years teaching at-risk preschoolers; 35 years total in teaching)
- Michele Lesniak, School Social Worker (20 years in school social work)
- Jane Hemingway, Teacher at Root Elementary (20 years teaching at the elementary level)

RSVP by May 15 by sending a $12.00 check payable to Women's Giving Network to Leslie Ann Jackson, North Carolina Community Foundation, 4601 Six Forks Road, Suite 524, Raleigh, NC 27609. Guests welcome and encouraged! With your check please include the names and email addresses of those attending and whether a vegetarian meal is preferred. Seating is limited. No registration at the door. For additional information, contact Kella Hatcher at hatcher@nc.rr.com.
