The Art of Giving reaches $100,000 in grants

For immediate release -- 4/18/16

The Art of Giving announces that local grantmaking has reached the $100,000 milestone, according to the board of advisors of the Triangle women's giving group.

A celebratory event was held on April 7 with members, special guests and grantees to celebrate this milestone and honor 2015 grantees.

Grantees Girls on the Run of the Triangle and the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Public School Foundation's Ephesus Girls Group program were on hand to thank The Art of Giving (TAG) for their support and share stories of how the money will be spent.

Diane Amato, founder, was thrilled with the attendance. "It brings me so much joy to see TAG reach this important milestone," she said. "We're proud to impact our local community to make a difference in the lives of others."

About the Art of Giving

The Art of Giving, a collaborative program of the North Carolina Community Foundation and the Triangle Community Foundation, is committed to leveraging the power of collective philanthropy and work to connect women in meaningful and purposeful ways. Initiatives that benefit women and families are priority. In addition to providing needed resources to strengthen the community, TAG also seek to increase women's involvement in philanthropy through educational events.

About the North Carolina Community Foundation

The NCCF is the single statewide community foundation serving North Carolina and has made $101 million in grants since its inception in 1988. With more than $237 million in assets, NCCF sustains 1,200 endowments established to provide long-term support of a broad range of community needs, nonprofit organizations, institutions and scholarships. The NCCF partners with 60 affiliate foundations to provide local resource allocation and community assistance in 67 counties across the state. An important component of NCCF's mission is to ensure that rural philanthropy has a voice at local, regional and national levels.
