Yadkin County Community Foundation awards local grants and scholarships

For immediate release -- 7/1/16

The board of advisors of the Yadkin County Community Foundation announced local scholarship and grant awards from its community grantmaking fund at a recent reception, according to Lisa Drum, board president.

This year's nonprofit recipients include:

- Hands of Hope Medical Clinic for diabetic supplies, prescription meds and more
- Yadkin Children's Center for a program focusing on life and social skills for youth in foster care

Recipients of the Hubert Lewis Phillips & Pearl Shermer Phillips Scholarship include:

- Paige Keaton
- Abbey Layell

Representatives from the Ed and Dorothy Carter Foundation, John and Donna Willingham Advised Fund, Meme Mckensie Brown "Fight Like A Girl" Fund and R. P. Buchanan Scholarship Endowment were also recognized during the reception.

Drum thanked the community for its support of the Yadkin County Community Foundation. "These grants are important to our community and our quality of life," she said. "Critical programs would not be possible without the generosity of many individuals and organizations that have supported Yadkin County's community fund."

About the North Carolina Community Foundation

The NCCF is the single statewide community foundation serving North Carolina and has made $101 million in grants since its inception in 1988. With more than $237 million in assets, NCCF sustains 1,200 endowments established to provide long-term support of a broad range of community needs, nonprofit organizations, institutions and scholarships. The NCCF partners with 60 affiliate foundations to provide local resource allocation and community assistance in 67 counties across the state. An important component of NCCF's mission is to ensure that rural philanthropy has a voice at local, regional and national levels.
