Align Global Consulting Announces the Opening of a New Office in Raleigh, North Carolina

August 12, 2011

(Raleigh, North Carolina, USA) — Align Global Consulting is pleased to announce the opening of a new office in Research Triangle Park, North Carolina. This is another significant step for Align and the location was chosen to directly support the firm's clients located in this vibrant commercial center.

"The RTP office allows us to provide national and global support for our clients in an area that is quickly becoming one of the most essential emerging growth centers in the country," said Sean King, president and founder of Align. The RTP office not only provides a local presence within the Triangle, but also allows the firm to remain active within its global footprint. "With 10 minute access to Raleigh-Durham International Airport, we can access our clients, and they can access us, via non-stop flights to strategic U.S. and European markets."

The North Carolina office also compliments Align's existing industry service groups. "This location is truly ideal for serving our clients in the pharma, biotech, technology and emerging industries," said King. "It also makes a fundamental statement about our permanent commitment to the Triangle."
