Sean M. King Discusses Efficient Global Treasury Management at Vaco Event

September 1, 2011

Raleigh, North Carolina, USA - Sean King, President of Align Global Consulting, joined a slate of other noted national speakers in addressing a large gathering of prominent financial executives at Vaco Raleigh's recent continuing professional education event. King's presentation, entitled "Global Treasury Management," covered a variety of topics including the ability of multinational corporations to efficiently manage their global operations via innovative structuring techniques. "Today's multinational corporation is looking to balance its tax and operational objectives, while managing its daily cash position and foreign exchange exposure," King noted before a crowd of more than 100 of the Triangle-area's most prominent corporate financial officers, including CFOs, treasurers and controllers.

"Treasury management nirvana for the modern multinational means having a platform that allows for global cash visibility, cash management portals, FX trading portals, reduced tax drag on cross-border financing arrangements, and the ability to efficiently redeploy cash to emerging operations," King expounded.

The event was a welcomed local opportunity for King, who regularly addresses audiences around the globe. In fielding questions after the event, King observed that "it is always nice to meet with leaders from some of the most innovative emerging companies in the United States, but it is especially rewarding when they are right here in our backyard."
