Now I'd like to tell you a little bit more about the candidates for Congress. [RANDOMIZE]

Jill Schupp is a Democrat and is a state Senator from St. Louis County. Before that she was a state representative and school board member. In Congress, Schupp will work to make healthcare more accessible and affordable, expand educational opportunity, and build an economy that benefits everyone not just the wealthy. Schupp says special interests have too much power in Washington and she refuses to accept corporate PAC money. Supporters say Schupp has a record of serving her community. They say it's time for a change in Washington.

Ann Wagner is a Republican and the current member of Congress. In Congress, Wagner has pushed back against an out of control and intrusive federal government. Wagner has worked to reduce taxes and wasteful government spending. Wagner says the key to improving the economy is by reducing taxes and unnecessary regulations that continue to hurt our small businesses. Wagner supports our local police and supported additional money for local law enforcement. Supporters say Wagner is a trusted conservative who has taken her Missouri values with her to Washington.
