U.S. 401 Corridor Study Seeks Public Input on Draft Design Concepts for Improvements

RALEIGH, N.C. — The U.S. 401 Corridor Study team is seeking input from anyone who lives, works, or travels along the corridor in southern Wake or northern Harnett County. Public participation is a critical component at this step in the study process. The Study team is asking members of the community to review draft design concepts and provide feedback to help develop draft recommendations.

The study area includes approximately 19 miles of U.S. 401 from Banks Road in Wake County south through the Town of Fuquay-Varina to the N.C. 210 and U.S. 421 intersection near the Town of Lillington in Harnett County; and about seven miles for the future U.S. 401. Public input received in the Spring of 2021 helped to update the vision for this corridor. The results from these efforts can be found on the project website.

Virtual Public Meeting

The Study team is hosting a virtual public meeting on Tuesday, September 14, 2021 at 6 p.m. The meeting will provide an opportunity to learn more about project progress and draft design concepts, ask questions of the project team and provide input to help the team develop recommendations. Participants can view or listen and participate in the meeting live online from a smart phone or computer, or by calling in. The website will host all presentation materials, login details and later a recording for the September 14th meeting.

Interested individuals can also sign up for future email updates about the study.

Study Survey

In addition to the virtual public meeting, a survey will be used to gather input from community members to assist in the development of the draft recommendations for the study. The survey will be open through September 24th. It can be accessed through the study website, via text message, as well as in print. To participate via text, text the keyword "US401Corridor" to 73224 to begin the survey. Contact the project team to request a print survey, if needed.

Questions

The project team is available to answer questions. Send an email to US401CorridorStudy@PublicInput.com or call 1-855-925-2801 and enter code 8961 when prompted. For #US401CorridorStudy updates follow CAMPO on Facebook, Twitter, or Instagram.
