Getting More Out of Your Wardrobe

Did you make a New Year’s resolution to clean out your closet or revamp your wardrobe? Visit our blog to read more about how you can be less wasteful when it comes to your clothing selection.

READ MORE

Clashing Over Climate Change

Last year, the earth’s temperature hit a new high, breaking all previous records. With evidence continuing to grow in support of climate change, why are there still so many deniers? Learn more about the growing debate over climate change at our blog.

LEARN MORE

Focusing on Educational Challenges Ahead

Education is key to advancing human development. However, in many parts of the world obstacles exist that prevent children, especially girls, from attending school. Visit our blog to read more about educational challenges around the world.
MORE FROM PLANET AID...

Not All Bad: Inspiring Events From 2016

Benefits of the Secondhand Clothing Industry

DONATE TO PLANET AID
Donate to Planet Aid today. Your support can help train teachers, develop communities, prevent disease, and so much more.
Spread the Love This February

Random Acts of Kindness Week is February 12 through February 18. For more information and inspiration on how you can be kind to others and our planet, visit our blog.

READ MORE

What's the Deal With Fast Fashion?

To consumers, fast fashion is great – low prices and frequent new styles. But what they don't know are the full impacts of the fast fashion industry. Learn more at our blog.

LEARN MORE

Climate Change: It's Not Only Hurting the Environment

The environmental effects of climate change are well known. But did you know that humans are vulnerable to health impacts from climate change? Read more at our blog.

READ MORE
MORE FROM PLANET AID...

The Clash Over Climate Change

Getting More Out of Your Wardrobe

DONATE TO PLANET AID

DONATE NOW

Donate to Planet Aid today. Your support can help train teachers, develop communities, prevent disease, and so much more.

Planet Aid is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization that collects and recycles used clothing and shoes to protect the environment and support sustainable development in impoverished communities around the world. The projects we support improve health, increase income, aid vulnerable children, train teachers, and help strengthen communities and reduce poverty.

Copyright © 2017
All rights reserved.
Spring has sprung and it’s Planet Aid’s favorite time of year! To celebrate spring, we’re offering tips and information to help with your cleaning. Some of the featured items include:

- Household Items You Didn’t Know You Could Recycle
- How to Make Spring Cleaning With Children Stress Free
- Don’t Forget About Your Pets While Spring Cleaning

Check out our full Spring Cleaning Guide to learn more!

International School Meals Day Highlights Importance of Nutrition

International School Meals Day is celebrated each year in March. To read more about ISMD and Planet Aid’s related work in Mozambique, visit our blog.
DONATE TO PLANET AID

Your contribution will help train teachers, develop communities, prevent disease, and so much more.

DONATE NOW

FIND A BIN

GET A RECEIPT

Planet Aid is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization that collects and recycles used clothing and shoes to protect the environment and support sustainable development in impoverished communities around the world. The projects we support improve health, increase income, aid vulnerable children, train teachers, and help strengthen communities and reduce poverty.

Copyright © 2017
All rights reserved.

STAY CONNECTED

Facebook
Twitter
Instagram
LinkedIn
Earth Day 2017; Thoreau's Legacy

This Saturday, April 22, marks the 47th Earth Day, which many regard as the birthday of the modern environmental movement. This year we pay tribute to one of the movement's earliest thinkers, Henry David Thoreau. Learn more at our blog.

Growing Their Own in Mozambique

Good nutrition is vital to a quality education. Planet Aid's Food for Knowledge Project recently launched the “Home Grown” component. Visit our blog to learn more.
Honoring World Health Workers

Without the dedication of health workers worldwide, we would not be winning the battle against HIV/AIDS. Read more at our blog.

Donate to Planet Aid

Your contribution will help train teachers, develop communities, prevent disease, and so much more.

Planet Aid is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization that collects and recycles used clothing and shoes to protect the environment and support sustainable development in impoverished communities around the world. The projects we support improve health, increase income, aid vulnerable children, train teachers, and help strengthen communities and reduce poverty.

Copyright © 2017
All rights reserved.

STAY CONNECTED
Memorial Day and the Earth

Memorial Day is a special day to honor those who served our country. While you're celebrating the day, you can also keep our planet in mind. Learn more at our blog.

Teaching Children to Read in Mozambique

The Food for Knowledge project focuses on raising literacy rates in Mozambique by making reading and writing skills more accessible to primary school students. Read more on our blog.

New Recycling Technology Aims to Reduce Clothing Waste

The fast fashion industry is wreaking havoc on our environment and has been for quite some time. But, we could be close to a solution, thanks to a research team in Finland. Learn more on our blog.
Donate to Planet Aid

Your contribution will help train teachers, develop communities, prevent disease, and so much more.

DONATE NOW

FIND A BIN
GET A RECEIPT

Planet Aid is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization that collects and recycles used clothing and shoes to protect the environment and support sustainable development in impoverished communities around the world. The projects we support improve health, increase income, aid vulnerable children, train teachers, and help strengthen communities and reduce poverty.

Copyright © 2017
All rights reserved.

STAY CONNECTED

Facebook
Twitter
Instagram
LinkedIn
June Newsletter

The Earth's Spin on the Climate Situation
As we celebrate the summer solstice today in the northern hemisphere, we wanted to share a few details about our planet's travels around the sun. Learn more at our blog.

Paris Climate Agreement: What's Next?
Even with the United States' withdrawal from the Paris Agreement, the responsibility that U.S. cities bear to combat climate change remains in the forefront. Learn more at our blog.

Basic Education Faltering in Africa
A new study indicates that support for basic education is not going to countries that need it most, particularly to the Sub-Saharan African region. Read more at our blog.
Donate to Planet Aid

Your contribution will help train teachers, develop communities, prevent disease, and so much more.

DONATE NOW

FIND A BIN
GET A RECEIPT

Planet Aid is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization that collects and recycles used clothing and shoes to protect the environment and support sustainable development in impoverished communities around the world. The projects we support improve health, increase income, aid vulnerable children, train teachers, and help strengthen communities and reduce poverty.

Copyright © 2017
All rights reserved.

STAY CONNECTED

Facebook
Twitter
Instagram
LinkedIn
Eco-Friendly Shopping Tips for a Green School Year

Use our eco-friendly shopping tips to make this year's back-to-school shopping a little greener. Not only will you have more green in your pockets, but you'll also help the environment. Read more at our blog.

What to Give When Disaster Strikes

Along with the kids returning to school, we are also at the peak of hurricane season. Planet Aid would like to remind donors how to give wisely during disasters. Visit our blog to learn more.

The Apparel Industry's Environmental Impact in Six Graphics

Fast fashion has fueled growth in the apparel industry, causing detrimental impacts on the environment. Read more about these impacts on our blog.
Humana People to People Releases 2016 Progress Report

The Humana People to People Federation recently released its 2016 progress report, which highlights the importance of the UN Sustainable Development Goals. Read more about the report at our blog.

Donate to Planet Aid

Your contribution will help train teachers, develop communities, prevent disease, and so much more.

Planet Aid is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization that collects and recycles used clothing and shoes to protect the environment and support sustainable development in impoverished communities around the world. The projects we support improve health, increase income, aid vulnerable children, train teachers, and help strengthen communities and reduce poverty.

Copyright © 2017
All rights reserved.

STAY CONNECTED
Planet Aid Unveils Massive Solar Array

Planet Aid inaugurated a large rooftop solar power-generating installation at the Milford, Mass. warehouse on Sept. 20. Visit our website to read more about the project.

What We Know—and Need to Know—About Sustainable Fashion

The fashion industry has major impacts on the environment, but recently companies have been doing more to go green. Visit our blog to find out what we know—and need to know—about sustainable fashion.

Strengthening Literacy in Mozambique

Children face many challenges in learning how to read in developing nations. Learn what we are doing in Mozambique to help students unlock the door to lifelong reading.
Thrift Center Celebrates Second Anniversary

The Planet Aid Thrift Center has been serving the greater Baltimore area for two years, providing the community with a source of affordable, sustainable fashion! Take a virtual tour of the store by clicking below.

TAKE A TOUR

Donate to Planet Aid

Your contribution will help train teachers, develop communities, prevent disease, and so much more.

DONATE NOW

FIND A BIN

GET A RECEIPT

Planet Aid is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization that collects and recycles used clothing and shoes to protect the environment and support sustainable development in impoverished communities around the world. The projects we support improve health, increase income, aid vulnerable children, train teachers, and help strengthen communities and reduce poverty.

Copyright © 2017
All rights reserved.

STAY CONNECTED

Facebook
Twitter
Instagram
LinkedIn
Ending Poverty and Hunger

This week the United Nations marks two important days: World Food Day and International Day for the Eradication of Poverty. Read more about why we must focus increased attention on combatting these chronic ills.

READ MORE

Climate and Violence Spurring Migration

After a decade of steady decline, global hunger is on the rise again. Conflict and climate change are the main drivers of this increase, which are forcing people to leave their homes to survive. Read more about this issue on our blog.

READ MORE

The Cost of Wasted Food

The world is wasting more food now than ever before, causing huge implications on all living things and the planet itself. Check out the infographic on our blog to get a better picture of the issue.

READ MORE

The View from Sub-Saharan
Volunteers who spent six months in sub-Saharan Africa recently visited Planet Aid to talk about their experiences. Check out what they had to say on our blog.

Donate to Planet Aid

Your contribution will help train teachers, develop communities, prevent disease, and so much more.

FIND A BIN

GET A RECEIPT

Planet Aid is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization that collects and recycles used clothing and shoes to protect the environment and support sustainable development in impoverished communities around the world. The projects we support improve health, increase income, aid vulnerable children, train teachers, and help strengthen communities and reduce poverty.

Copyright © 2017
All rights reserved.
Strengthening Literacy in Mozambique

Children face many challenges in learning how to read in developing nations. Learn what we are doing in Mozambique to help students acquire early grade reading skills and unlock the door to lifelong learning.

LEARN MORE

World Diabetes Day: Making Inroads in India

Humana People to People India, Planet Aid’s fellow member in the Humana People to People Federation, has been on the frontlines in the fight to control diabetes in India. Read about what they’re doing on our blog.

READ MORE

Planet Aid Unveils Massive Solar Array

Planet Aid inaugurated a large rooftop solar power-generating installation at the Milford, Mass. warehouse in September. Visit our website to learn more about the project.
The View from Sub-Saharan Africa

Volunteers who spent six months in sub-Saharan Africa recently visited Planet Aid to talk about their experiences. Check out what they had to say on our blog.

Donate to Planet Aid

Your contribution will help train teachers, develop communities, prevent disease, and so much more.

Planet Aid is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization that collects and recycles used clothing and shoes to protect the environment and support sustainable development in impoverished communities around the world. The projects we support improve health, increase income, aid vulnerable children, train teachers, and help strengthen communities and reduce poverty.

Copyright © 2017
All rights reserved.

STAY CONNECTED
World AIDS Day

Today is World AIDS Day! Around the world, 36.7 million people are living with HIV. Scientific advances have helped reduce the impact of the disease, but more must be done to finally sweep AIDS into the dustbin of history. Learn more on our blog.

LEARN MORE

Fighting HIV on the Frontlines in Mozambique

A 2015 survey found that HIV prevalence is rising in Mozambique, with close to 2 million individuals currently HIV positive. Visit our blog to learn why the challenge of fighting this dreaded disease is particularly challenging in Mozambique.

READ MORE

Saving 100 Million Pounds of Clothing

Each year, Planet Aid saves approximately 100 million pounds of used clothing and shoes from needless disposal. To learn more, visit our blog and watch a short behind-the-scenes film about our operation.

LEARN MORE
Donate to Planet Aid this holiday season. Your contribution will help train teachers, develop communities, prevent disease, and so much more.

Shop Amazon for the holidays. Amazon will donate 0.5% of the price of your eligible AmazonSmile purchases to Planet Aid.

Planet Aid is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization that collects and recycles used clothing and shoes to protect the environment and support sustainable development in impoverished communities around the world. The projects we support improve health, increase income, aid vulnerable children, train teachers, and help strengthen communities and reduce poverty.

Copyright © 2017 All rights reserved.

STAY CONNECTED

!Facebook  !Twitter  !Instagram  !LinkedIn